The sexist term “man” used throughout the paper; in the introduction, and in several parts of the manuscript should be changed to rabies in humans not rabies in man. The red and yellow highlights used for corrections should be removed to enable our readers determine the literary flow of the manuscript. It looks disjointed as it is currently presented. The manuscript is very suitable for our journal.

Editor’s Details:
Prof. William Ebomoyi
Department of Health Studies
College of Health Sciences, Chicago State University
USA

Note: Modification was done in this document ONLY to hide the email id.